Why did you get involved with CSPA?

I got involved with CSPA to help people with skin conditions live their lives better and feel better in their skin. I had a minor skin condition when I was 10 and, because of the way it was perceived by those around me, I had to stop practicing my favorite sport, swimming. I remember having rather good results at it and how sad I was when I'd learned that I had to quit. So, I joined CSPA to support and encourage others to keep getting the best of their lives regardless of their skin conditions and any negative comments they might hear on their way.

What do you perceive as outcomes of your involvement?

As an active member of CSPA, I hope to have contributed to organizing good functioning of the Affiliate Members Committee and thus establishing durable relationships between CSPA and other patient support organizations.

Why do you like volunteering with CSPA?

By volunteering with CSPA, I'm giving back to the community and especially those in need. I've received a lot of help and support in my life, and I'd like to be as useful to the community, in return, as possible.

Has a personal connection with the skin patient community inspired your participation?

Absolutely. I have people around me with different skin conditions and observe them dealing with all kinds of situations. Also, my own experience inspired my participation with CSPA.
